Practice philosophy:

I treat many patients with multiple medical conditions and comorbidities. Diabetes, hypertension, and dyslipidemia are among the more common ones. In addition to treatment I promote dietary changes and lifestyle modifications when appropriate. I also help manage a number of patients with chronic pain syndromes. Physical therapy, pain management, orthopedics and lifestyle interventions are some of the resources I use to help with these oftentimes complex patients. After training last year and certification for the use of buprenorphine I have recently begun to help patient with opioid dependence. Together with medication, therapy, and family support I am able to help many of these patients with recovery.
