Practice philosophy:

I am well versed at treating a multitude of various disease processes to all populations especially in the field of internal medicine and family practice. Additionally, I believe in teaching all patients about health, wellness and prevention and instilling the idea that health is not merely the absence of disease. I believe in stopping the waste that occurs in health care in the United States. We have to come together and eliminate unnecessary tests, procedures and overall waste in order to achieve a more just society in health care overall.
